Home Health Aide On-the-Go In-Service Lessons: Vol. 2, Issue 9: Caring for Patients After Hip Surgery (Home Health Aide on-the-Go in-Service Lessons, Volume 2) HCPro
This lesson on Caring for Patients After Hip Surgery includes a complete training packet. Each in-service packet takes approximately one hour to complete and fully meets the Medicare in-service training requirements. As aides need training, you can make as many copies as you want - thereu2019s no restriction when used with aides assigned from your office location. Remember that Home Health Aides must have 12 hours of in-service training every year. LESSON OBJECTIVES Upon completion of this program, the home health aide will be able to: • Name two common types of hip surgery •List three activities patients with hip surgery should not perform •Name three assistive devices most hip surgery patients need, and • List two occasions in which the aide should notify the supervisor. OVERVIEW The American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons reports that there are more than 300,000 hip fractures each year in the United States. It is estimated that women over the age of 65 have a 1 in 5 chance of fracturing their hips at some point during their lives. In addition to hip fractures, several other conditions necessitate hip surgery, including degenerative joint disease, trauma, osteonecrosis, and various types of inflammatory arthritis. Many patients require home health care following hip surgery. Because home health aides are so often assigned to care for these patients, it is essential that they understand the components of care, precautions to take, and when to contact supervisors.
