To MADAME TH: BLANC-BENTZON MAIANO, NEAR FLORENCE, June 20, 1903. MY DEAR MADAME BLANC, The first copy of this little book was, of course, to have been for Gabrielle Delzant. I am fulfilling her wish, I think, in giving it, instead, to you, who were her oldest friend ;as I, alas !had time to be only her latest. She had read nearly all these essays ;and, during those weeks of her illness which I spent last autumn in Gascony, she had made me rewrite several among them. She wanted to learn to read English aloud, and it amused her and delighted me that she should do so on my writings. Her French pronunciation gave an odd grace to the sentences ;the little hesitation spaced and accentuated their meaning ;and I liked what I had written when she read it.
